Asserting Her Authority.

Mrs. Saft came in from a chat over the fence with her neighbor, and her face was hard and red.

"Come here, Tommy!" she commanded her young son. "I am going to punish you, but open the windows first."

"What for?" said Tommy, beginning to weep.

"Well, I have just heard that that cat across the road said I have no authority over you, and I want her to hear you getting a whipping. Come here, sir!"—Chicago Herald.

Horse Meat Signs in France.

In Paris the browned horse's head denotes the location of "boucheries hippophagiques" or horse meat shops. Since the early seventies of the last century hippophagy has grown so in popularity that there is now no considerable town in France that has not one or more shops for the sale of horse flesh.

Baptists Win Again—

The Baptists barely escaped defeat last night when the Presbyterians staged a come-back stunt and kept the former on their toes. The score was 7-6 when the last inning closed. The playing was fast all through the game, each side making several brilliant plays. The batteries were Summers and Smith for the Baptists and Best and Parker for the Presbyterians. The next game will be Friday night between the Methodists and Christians. A very satisfactory sum was realized when a collection was taken.

Gypsies Patronize Camp Ground—

Three auto loads of Gypsies arrived from the south Monday night and when no one was watching, alighted into the auto camp. Before camp was pitched the "fairer" sex of these began to pay visits to the other camps instead of waiting to be called upon by the first comers. At each stop they demonstrated that the hand was quicker than the eye and carried away several articles. As their presence was not wholly appreciated by the other tourists, they were requested to "move on" by an officer of the law. They promised to move and the next morning after picking up any thing handy around town, left for the north.

BOYS' BAND TO GIVE CONCERT TONIGHT

concert is to be given this evening at the railroad park by the Oakland Boys' band. The boys have a band composed of 32 pieces and the music is really splendid. Although the organization is composed of boys, many of them barely in their early teens, they have elicited much praise from all who have heard them. A few numbers were given on the street this morning and a fair sized crowd collected wherever the band stopped.

This is the tenth season that the Oakland Boys' Band has toured Oregon and Washington, having just finished a tour of California. The expenses of the trip are met by giving open air concerts and taking a voluntary collection during this, and by dances. They played at Medford and Ashland, the concert at Ashland being given at Lithia Park. Yesterday when camp was made at the park, it was hardly possible to get the tents up before the whole 32 were in the river. The trip is as much of an outing as anything, the boys seeing every town of any size along the route.

The concert tonight will begin at eight o'clock and will be followed immediately by a dance at the Waldorf hall. The proceeds of this will be used to help pay the expenses of the trip.

Sardine Fishing.

In sardine fishing there are many uncertainties. There is a twenty-eight foot rise and fall of tide in the bay of Fundy, and especially constructed wooden picket enclosures are staked out in the water to gather in the fish. A man erected an enclosure in what he supposed to be excellent fishing territory, but got nothing. He deplored his loss and for a time failed to go near it. "Why don't you seine it again?" somebody asked. "What's the use?" he replied. "Let me try it!" the other persisted. "Yes, and you may have all the fish you get." The other man pulled out $1,700 worth at one haul.
